

LIFE IN THE METROPOLI

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY THE SUN'S REPORTERS.

What Led some West Side Boys to Attend the Tabernacle Sunday School.
The Rev. Dr. Taylor's church of the Broadway

Taborians gave a feast of strawberries last evening to Sunday afternoon mission school, in the Bethel Mission House, Ninth avenue and Thirtieth street as a testimonial of their appreciation of the children's wharves. For Sunday school instruction was sharpened last week, when they heard of the strawberry festival for Sunday school children everywhere. Accordingly boys who had never before been to a strawberry festival were sent to the market for Scripture knowledge last Sunday. Fearful that they might never be seen again, the Bethel missionaries made a special effort to give the children a pleasant night when they were old and familiar pupils. The children were all dressed in their best, and everyone Christmas with the roses of June. The school has six hundred pupils. The teachers, seventy, are all women. They have a large collection of books as prizes to the children who had memorized the Lord's Prayer and the Creed. The children were given a few short speeches by the pupils and several long ones by the missionaries. The children were then the superintendents of both parent and mission Sunday school. The children were then given a special treat when the joyful announcement of a new and strong

The Funeral of the Murdered Wife.—At 2 yesterday at termon Ellen Gillen, who was murdered by her husband, Frank Gillen, was buried in the cemetery at 128 Elm street. The funeral had been intimately acquainted with Mrs. Gillen was to the room where the body lay. The corpse was dressed in a dark dress, with one hand resting on breast, holding a small bouquet of immortelles. The fastidious and calm expression of the face was in the shade of alabaster, and the dark, lustrant hair was tastefully arranged. The coffin lid was half open, revealing the face of the deceased. The coffin was on the lid, upon which was inscribed, "E. Gillen, And Mrs. Frank Gillen, Dec. 1891."

The adjoining rooms were filled with mourners and friends. A touching scene was the depositing of a letter in the coffin. The letter was from a young lady who worked with Mrs. Gillen in McDaniel's store. The letter was from a young lady who had been the mother and sister was intense. On the death of her mother and sister was intense. On the death of her mother and sister was intense.

[illegible][illegible][illegible]

Clinton and Paterson answered by Philip Tipton, who cut him down in time to save his life. The color guard, in black and blue, were waiting across the river in West Hoboken, and had started to go home all night long. The color guard, however, and the band were not to be seen. He was escorted by three strangers who, for fun, let him slip to die.

A Fatal Ferry Accident.

On Monday, John Foley, aged 37, of 211 Hudson avenue, Brooklyn, was on his way to the ferry at Weehawken during his trip to Brooklyn. When the ferry crossed the river, he was unable to get up the stairs, and he was thrown overboard. He was held by his legs were caught between the boat and the shore. He was unable to get up and dropped into the water. His legs were terribly mangled and his injuries are considered fatal.

BASE BALL NOTES.

The Baltimore beat the Resolute in Baltimore from one day, to a 4-0.

The Boston Club beat the Philadelphia

FLASHES FROM THE OCEAN CABLE.

The Czarewicz and wife are visiting Prince and Princess of Wales at Sandringham.

Don Adolfo Ballivian has been elected to complete the period commenced by the late President.

A special despatch from Berlin to the London News says the death of the Emperor William is regarded as a relief, that it is a relief because he has regained his usual health.

Mr. James J. O'Kelly has arrived at the residence of Senator Stanford of San Francisco. He was delivered over to the Spanish authorities by the British Consul at San Francisco.

The Spanish Cortes has under consideration proposition of Señor Ochoa granting the Government the right to tax the mail, under which it will be empowered to levy a contribution of 100,000,000 pesetas per annum.

SPARKS FROM THE TELEGRAPH.

Ten persons died of cholera in Memphis yesterday.

Joseph Jewett, the would-be assassin of President McKinley, was taken to the St. Louis hospital at Woods in Hudson, N. H., is dead. Miss Frank received the news.

It is rumored that there are twenty-seven steamers in China waters waiting to bring Chinese to the port of San Francisco.

John Joseph, a San Diego fireman, has been ordered to the Coast Guard of United States. Agents have taken for the office of the coast guard.

Greenland, a schooner, is reported to have been wrecked at Cape Cod on the 14th inst. It has cost $100,000 to the Museum of Comparative Zoology.

Mr. Quincy Smith, a member of the United States House of Representatives, has been elected to the Senate.

A British steamer arrived at the Museum of Comparative Zoology on the 14th inst. It has cost $100,000 to the Museum of Comparative Zoology.

W. S. Hardy of the firm of Christy Brothers, 100 Broadway, New York, was drowned while bathing in the ocean at Prater Da Chion on Saturday last.

The ninety-first anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg was observed at the National Bank, insurance office, and many mercantile institutions.

The Rev. James J. Dougherty, priest in Seminary of Our Lady of Angkor, near Niagara Falls, delivered the invocation, followed by good wishes and other articles. A full rent of the day was collected.

Mr. H. J. Stevens, the assignee of the firm Bowles & Bro., called in the forenoon from Boston, and remained until about 6 o'clock, and left a day for expenses in gold.

S. R. McClean & Co., bankers of Pittsburgh, were here yesterday afternoon. Mr. McClean has been arrested on a warrant issued in instance of the Exchange National bank.

John Brown's body has been exhumed and buried in the cemetery of the city of New York. His wife and children are now in the city.

They yielded in the rolling mill of Z. Holmstrom, of Southfield, Mich., where they were taken to the hospital, with all their injuries.

The testimony in the Wagner murder trial of Alfred, Me., was closed yesterday, and the Hon. J. Topley concluded the closing argument for the defense. Attorney General Plaisant will argue the case for the State. It is expected the Judge's charge to the jury will be given to-day.